[JOE ALTMAN] 35-45. Fiercely intelligent, deeply empathic, Joe is an affectionate father, son and husband. As a prison psychologist at San Quentin, Joe strives to rehabilitate the most sociopathic inmates. Joe's father, Leo, was a revolutionary behavioral psychiatrist, but his experiments were so controversial – Leo was disgraced. Joe is intent on redeeming Leo's reputation (even after his father died last year.) Loyal, Joe puts family first. Joe is one unique parent. After his first wife left him – Joe had to raise his sons, Nate and PK, since they were toddlers. Uncompromising, Joe believes his job is to put his kids on a path to success. His devotion might be perceived as strict, but you wish you could be as strong. Joe's life was full, but lonely. And then he fell in love with Rose. Rose appreciated and admired Joe's passion. They make a perfect couple. Honest, critical, compassionate. When Joe and Rose move back into his childhood home to care for his mother, Helen – a series of events force Joe to realize the rumors about his father might be true. Joe is on a gut-wrenching journey – stripping away the edifice of his tight-knit family to discover his own identity, as a devoted husband, son and father might be an elaborate lie...SERIES REGULAR

[ROSE ALTMAN] 30s, Beautiful, energetic, Rose is determined to have it all. A successful career and a loving family. But growing up, Rose never had the comfort of family. Her mom died and her dad was a drunk. Rose found her passion in design and turned her talent into a modest home design business with an appetite for more. Two years ago, Rose finally found what she was looking for in Joe. Joe made Rose feel welcomed in the family she always craved, but never had. But it's not so easy. Rose struggles to get close to Joe's kids, PK and Nate. The story of every step-parent in America. And newly pregnant, Rose wonders what kind of mother she is going to be. Luckily, Rose has found a role-model in her mother-in-law, Helen. However, just after Rose and Joe move back into his childhood home to take care of Helen, Helen suffers a mental breakdown – violently clawing at the walls of the house. Trying to find the cause of Helen's breakdown and heal her family, Rose will discover the Altman family isn't as ideal as she imagined. She will finally learn what it means to be a part of a family. The good and bad. The lies you tell and the secrets you keep.....SERIES REGULAR

[HELEN ALTMAN] 50s-60s. (The same actress will play Helen from 30 years old to 70 years old.) Seen in 1974, Helen is a children's author/artist. Her book, The Phantom Panda, has won a Caldecott and Newbury award. It's on every bookshelf in America. But then Helen pulled a Harper Lee and retired. Helen wanted to focus on her family. Exchanging her painting smock for a cooking apron. Helen held the family together when Leo was under attack about his psychiatric methodology. Current day (2015): After Leo's death, Rose, Joe, PK and Nate – come to live with Helen. Shockingly, Helen has a mental breakdown, violently scratching at the walls. Stranger still, Helen has no memory of the episode. Is this early signs of

Alzheimer's? Dementia? Or was something done to Helen's mind? A secret that is fighting to claw out of the depths of Helen's psyche and reveal itself....SERIES REGULAR / PLEASE SUBMIT NAME ACTORS

[DR. LEONARD "LEO" ALTMAN] 50s-60s. (The same actor will play Leo from 35 years old to 75 years old.) Seen in 1974, Dr. Leo Altman is a charismatic, brilliant behavioral psychiatrist working in an unnerving field to discover the cause of and cure for sociopathy. But beyond his research, Leo is like any dad – filming and photographing his family as he and his wife, Helen, prepare for the birth of their son. Leo is protective; concerned Helen will choose her career over family. Current day (2015): Leo passed away one year ago, but we will see him through the films he took over the past 4 decades. His presence haunts the Altmans. One event ruined Leo's career. The class was called PSYCH 271. The events that took place are still a mystery. The university sealed the records. But we do know Leo used electroshock therapy, hypnosis and hallucinogens. 5 students died. The others were institutionalized. Leo was fired by the university. Stripped of his license. Ostracized and vilified. The wounds from PSYCH 271 have not healed. There are people in the neighborhood who still hold a grudge. Was Leo a megalomaniac who used people like puppets? Or is he good man trying to help others. Including his own family...SERIES REGULAR / PLEASE SUBMIT NAME ACTORS

[NATE ALTMAN] 15 years old, Nate has been diagnosed with Oppositional Defiance Disorder which makes him anti-social, recalcitrant and brilliant. Nate is always in trouble at home and school. Fistfights. Stealing. Hacking. Detention. Expulsion. Joe disciplines Nate with rigid rules to get him on a better path. But, it hasn't worked. Nate's only outlet is making movies. From documenting his family's daily life to filming a slasher film on his iphone – Nate always has a camera in hand. Instigating. Agitating. The only person who ever understood Nate was his grandfather Leo, but since Leo died – Nate has felt alone. However, with his step-mother Rose – Nate finally might have an ally. Someone who understands. Someone who wants to help...SERIES REGULAR

[PK] MALE. 17 years old, PK is a smart kid, good athlete and kind soul. Although he's a swimmer, PK doesn't make waves. He obediently follows the path his father, Joe, laid out. Joining varsity swim team. Going to an Ivy League college. Just like his dad. Joe has high expectations for PK's future. PK follows the course. Spending hours in the pool, the chlorine makes PK's skin raw. PK's skin feels uncomfortable a lot these days. PK has been playing a role for his father. But now, PK is ready to find his own identity. The problem is, PK is scared about what he might find...SERIES REGULAR STORY LINE: The Altmans have documented their lives through home movies and photographs. Hidden among the Thanksgiving dinners, vacations and birthdays are the family's dark secrets...
